PERSONAL TECHNICAL PROJECT

Glasses - Github | Glasses

Glasses, is a full-stack ecommerce web app that allows users to search for and purchase spectacles. Users can log in, add to cart, change color of the product and make payment. Orders & users are stored on a database.

- Developed the backend with JavaScript, Express.js, and Firebase, ensuring efficient order processing, data storage, and secure handling of customer information.
- Built the frontend using Vite and React, enabling dynamic product displays and smooth user interactions for an optimized checkout experience.
- Configured environment variables for both local development and production, ensuring seamless deployment and communication, with deployment handled through Render.com for reliable CI/CD integration.
